What is Log Cabin Window Tinting?

Log cabin window tinting is the application of a specialized tinted film to the surface of a window. It works by regulating the amount of ultraviolet rays that are able to transmit through the window. Depending on which type is used, the film will absorb or reflect all or a portion of the sunlight that strikes the cabin window.

Our Installation Process

We have professional and trustworthy installers who make window tinting a hassle-free process for you. Our installers take care to maintain a clean and orderly worksite and will move furniture for clear access to your windows and protect the surrounding property with drop cloths.

The windows are carefully prepared with a thorough cleansing to remove any dirt, residue build-up or any other material that will prevent the film from adhering as it should. After the window is dried using a squeegee, the film is measured so that it slightly overlaps the window it will cover. Depending on the type of film used, the film, the window or both will be sprayed with moisture to activate the specialized mounting adhesive on the film. The film will then be applied to the window using a squeegee to remove unsightly air bubbles and to ensure that film adheres to every part of the window glass. Once the film is properly attached, it is carefully trimmed, leaving you with perfectly tinted log cabin windows.
